

Counselling MVP

Being a Mapmaker When There Is No One Map

Counsellor

What

There are so many options for students

There is no one map to reach success because the topography changes

Why

Everyone wants the best for the student

There is no single map or plan because it's an exploration and more than one destination

How

1. Where are the students now?

Activities and a space for self reflection and self assessment

2. Where can they go?

Exploring careers and future pathways

3. How do they get there? AND How do they adjust the course?

Tools, events, opportunities, planning for their secondary and post secondary path

Building transferable skills, resilience and risk-taking

When

Ideally a multi-year program from G9-12, or earlier

Who needs to make this happen?

Students

Counsellors

Teachers

School Leadership

Families

Future universities and employers

- João Rodrigo Agildo - Colégio São Luís, São Paulo, Brazil
- Reginaldo Aguiar - Positivo School Group, Curitiba, Brazil
- Olgica Gjorgjevska - NOVA International School Skopje
- Gavin Hornbuckle - Dulwich College Beijing, China
- Olena Jackson - American International School of Jeddah, Saudi Arabia
- Marsha Oshima - International School of Geneva, La Grande Boissiere
- Ryan Jay Riconalla - NationalHigh Jakarta School, Jakarta, Indonesia
- Joe Rogers - Amsterdam International Community School, Netherlands
- Gwawr Tagg - International Schools Partnership - Global
- Suman Yadav - Oberoi International School, JVLR Campus, Mumbai, India

Counsellor

Global
International Schools
Forum & Workshop

Email this deck & WeTransfer
/ Google drive your 1-minute video to Seeta:
[seeta.bhardwa@timeshigher education.com](mailto:seeta.bhardwa@timeshigher education.com)

commonpurpose

Counsellor

Global
International Schools
Forum & Workshop