Your well-being is just as important as your academic success. That's why we take a holistic approach to support your entire journey, with resources for mental, physical, financial, and spiritual wellness to help you succeed both on and off campus.

With 10 Canadian research chairs and 21 research centres and institutes, we currently lead Canadian comprehensive universities in research impact and international research collaboration. “What I love most about the University of Regina is the kindness, generosity, and support shown by the employees. I always feel welcomed and guided. For example, the staff at the Student Success Centre are consistently sweet, patient, and helpful. Even when I have difficult questions, they do their best to help me or point me in the right direction. It’s this culture of support that makes me proud to be a U of R student.”

LOANS AND GRANTS

GOVERNMENT STUDENT ASSISTANCE

You'll have access to two forms of financial aid from both the provincial and federal governments — loans and grants. If you apply for student loans, you'll be required to start to repay them once you're no longer a full-time student. Grants, in most cases, do not need to be repaid. When applying for government assistance, make sure to apply in your home province — even if you are moving to Saskatchewan to study.

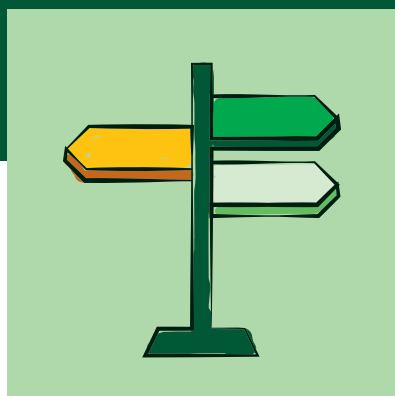

Government student assistance is intended to help you pay for your education. The amount of assistance available will depend on your personal and family situation and can only be determined after you have submitted a student loan application.
