Two posts in an outstanding School of Education Dean of the School of Education & Professor of Education

Our 'outstanding' (Grade 1) Ofsted ratings for our Primary, Secondary and Further Education teacher education programmes are just three of the many reasons for joining us. We have a national reputation as a leader in education, respected both for our outstanding initial teacher education provision and our large and successful undergraduate programme. Both are underpinned by highly effective partnerships with schools and with the private and voluntary sectors. You'll find a real sense of energy, ambition, success and commitment within the School – we are at the forefront of innovative education initiatives and we're continuing to invest in our outstanding facilities whilst developing international links and a larger research community.

For the post of Dean of the School of Education, you'll need to bring a record of outstanding achievement in educational leadership and management, as well as a solid and relevant research profile.

For the role of Professor we are looking for someone with experience of leading research teams and an internationally excellent body of published work.

Closing date for applications is 12 Noon on 13th June 2013.

To learn more or apply, visit www.saxbam.com/jobs using reference AACYB (Dean, Education) or AACYP (Professor, Education).

PIONEER WITH PLYMOUTH UNIVERSITY

EXECUTIVE DEANS

- Faculty of Business
- Faculty of Science and Environment
- Faculty of Health and Human Sciences
- Faculty of Arts and Humanities

Competitive Compensation Package

One of the top 10 UK modern universities (60th in the world)* and winner of the Queen's Anniversary Prize for Higher and Further Education in 2012, Plymouth University is a university on the ascendant with unprecedented demand for its courses and globally significant research. It enjoys a high rate of graduate employment and has invested more than £300 million over the past decade in its estate and facilities to enhance the student experience and support world-class research. It has outstanding links with employers and professional bodies and plays a key role in civic and regional leadership.

Plymouth University has a vision to be the Enterprise University in line with our mission of 'advancing knowledge and transforming lives through education and research'. Enterprise is at the heart of all that we do and our Executive Deans will therefore need exceptional drive, agility and strategic experience to lead the translation of the University's Strategy 2020 into day-to-day, sustainable and high quality decisions and activities across the Academic Schools and Research groups.

Arising from promotion of current postholders, both within the University and externally, and in line with our approach to growing leaders, the University is now seeking to complement its existing leadership strength with four Executive Deans. The role of Executive Dean is a critical leadership role for the University, responsible for a number of Academic Schools and support of Research Institutes and Centres, leading through a framework of co-ordinated autonomy in order to drive exceptional performance.

With a strong academic profile and passion for the transformational impact of education on individuals, communities and society at large, successful candidates will demonstrate exceptional influencing and change management skills.

Additionally they will be a strategic thinker, collegiate, a strong negotiator and role model with experience of leading and mentoring large and diverse teams. Values-based leadership will already clearly define the way they coach, empower and manage the performance of people in order to realise potential and at times make brave or difficult decisions.

They will also relish the opportunity of leading and growing the capability of their designated Faculty during a period of considerable change and opportunity in the Higher Education Sector.

For the appointment of the Executive Dean for the Faculty of Business, the University has instructed its executive search partners, Perrett Laver to advise and assist with the selection and appointment. The deadline for applications is midday 20th June 2013. Applications should consist of a CV accompanied by a covering letter addressing the criteria in the person specification. These can be uploaded at www.perrettlaver.com/candidates quoting reference 1309.

The University would welcome expressions of interest from suitably experienced individuals for the further Executive Dean opportunities. Prospective candidates for these roles will be contacted following the conclusion of an internal recruitment and selection campaign. More information on these roles and details of how to apply can be found at www.pioneeringuniversity.co.uk/

The deadline for applications and expressions of interest is midday on 20th June 2013.

Head of Subject for Performance

Circa £50,000 to £55,000 per annum
Ref : LCM005

Hochschule Karlsruhe
Technik und Wirtschaft
UNIVERSITY OF APPLIED SCIENCES

Näher dran.

Karlsruhe University of Applied Sciences is one of the largest of its kind in Baden-Wuerttemberg. The degree programs are characterized by a high degree of teaching practical knowledge and excellent study conditions. The university receives outstanding ranking results and works closely with regional and national industry partners. It is extremely successful in attracting extramural funding and is committed to expanding applied research even further. Currently approximately 7,400 students are enrolled in one of the six academic departments: Faculty of Architecture and Construction Engineering, Faculty of Computer Science and Business Information Systems, Faculty of Electrical Engineering and Information Technology, Faculty of Information Management and Media, Faculty of Management Science and Engineering and Faculty of Mechanical Engineering and Mechatronics.

The Department of Management Science and Engineering invites applications for a full-time

Tenure Track W2-Professorship in Intercultural Communication

- Reference Number 1341 - to begin in September 2013.

Candidates should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching, the development of intercultural relationships in this very multidisciplinary field, and in supervising scholarly work. Teaching assignments include courses in the International Management degree program (B.Sc./M.Sc.). Foundation courses are also taught in other faculties at the university. The successful candidate is a very fluent English speaker and has the ability to teach in English. While knowledge of German is not a prerequisite, it will be helpful. A strong commitment to ongoing applied research in intercultural management communication is expected, as well as the ability to obtain extramural funding. The person sought knows how to let our students benefit from her/his competence gained in research activities as well as in practice out of business experience. Her/His teaching and research is marked by her/his knowledge, abilities and example. Duties also include providing service to the faculty and the university. Further information on the faculty: www.hs-karlsruhe.de

The successful candidate may also have the prospect to achieve the responsibilities of Director of the Foreign Language Institute. The Institute coordinates the University's interdisciplinary language program. Approximately half of all participants in the language courses are students of International Management, consequently there are strong ties between the Institute and the Faculty of Management Science and Engineering. Currently the Institute has three permanent full-time positions for Senior Lecturers and one full-time secretarial position in the Institute's office. Further details on the Institute: www.hs-karlsruhe.de/ifs

The Karlsruhe University of Applied Sciences receives more third-party funds than the majority of universities of applied sciences in Baden-Wuerttemberg. Therefore expanding applied research is an acknowledged goal of the university. The successful candidate will be expected to actively participate in applied research projects and raise third-party funds. Furthermore she/he is expected to actively participate in the knowledge transfer between university and industry.

The conditions of employment for professors are stated in §§ 47, 49, 50 of the Baden-Wuerttemberg State University Law dating from August 14th, 2010. More information will be listed in the detailed job description under www.hs-karlsruhe.de >The University >Vacancies.

The university seeks to increase the diversity of its faculty. As an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer, the university explicitly encourages applications from women as well as from all others who would bring additional dimensions of diversity to the university's research and teaching strategies. Preference will be given to disabled candidates with essentially the same qualifications.

Applications accompanied by supporting documentation (CV, complete academic transcripts, list of publications, list of courses taught, statements of research and teaching strategies, names and addresses of at least three references) - including the reference number - should be submitted by June 17th, 2013 to:

Hochschule Karlsruhe - Technik und Wirtschaft / Personalabteilung
Postfach 2440 / 76012 Karlsruhe / Germany
Phone: +49-721-925-1030 / www.hs-karlsruhe.de

Applications may also be submitted as a single PDF file via email to: personal@hs-karlsruhe.de

The Department of Politics at Sussex is a well-established and successful research-led department with a record of excellence in research assessment exercises and in teaching. The department is seeking to build on its strengths with one lectureship and one senior lectureship.

Successful candidates will be dynamic and committed academics from within the field of Politics who research and teach in one or more of the following areas: (1) Latin American politics or Chinese politics, (2) political corruption, (3) European Union/European Integration, but who are able to contribute to the wider teaching and supervision of the discipline of Political Science at the undergraduate and postgraduate levels. We are looking to appoint research active academics who will make a strong contribution to our REF submission with a record of publication. Applicants should also have experience in teaching at the undergraduate level and demonstrate potential for securing research funding. Applicants for the Senior Lectureship will be expected to develop and manage new postgraduate taught course provision that builds on the regional expertise of the department.

Informal enquiries should be made to Professor Paul Taggart, Head of Department for Politics at p.a.taggart@sussex.ac.uk.

UCL Division of Surgery and Interventional Science
Aspire Lecturer/Senior Lecturer (x3)
in Biomedical Engineering:
Disability Science, Technology and Engineering

The appointment will be full time on UCL Grade 7-8-9. The salary range will be Grade 7: £36,064 - £39,132 per annum. Grade 8: £40,216 - £47,441 per annum. Grade 9: £51,563 - £56,067 per annum, inclusive of London Allowance. All salaries are dependent on skills and experience. Certain engineering specialisations may attract a market supplement.

Three posts are available for exceptional researchers keen to improve the lives of people with spinal injuries. In the supportive and diverse research environment of UCL, these postholders will have the opportunities to undertake research in the field of disability science in general, whilst also developing assistive technology solutions to help specific patient groups.

These will be joint positions based in the Aspire Centre for Disability Science, in collaboration with the UCL Division of Surgery and Interventional Science, UCL Faculty of Engineering Sciences and the Royal National Orthopaedic Hospital (RNOH). The postholders will play a key role in the development of disability science in general and assistive technology for spinal injury people.

The appointments will be made at an early stage of the redevelopment of the hospital and bioengineering initiatives within UCL and offers an exciting and unique opportunity to participate fully in the provision of a bioengineering discipline in UCL, supporting translational research and teaching developments in assistive technology.

The postholder must have a PhD and/or evidence of an equivalent level of attainment in research publications in quality peer-reviewed journals. Experience of working in a Biomedical Engineering environment, experience of high quality academic research in the field of rehabilitation engineering and assistive technology and the ability to attract grant funding for research are all essential.

Inspiring success

Teesside
University

School of Social Sciences & Law

Principal Lecturer in Education

Salary up to £56,000

Teesside University was the first modern university to be named University of the Year and is an inspiring place to work. We continually strive to maximise our potential and are inspiring others to do the same, through our commitment to delivering excellence not only in our teaching and student support, but also in our enterprise, business engagement and research.

With current knowledge of the national requirements for qualifying teachers to teach in compulsory sector education, you will be responsible for the planning, preparation and management of OFSTED inspections of the School's Initial Teacher Education (ITE) Provision. In addition, you will lead on the approval/validation and management of programmes which are delivered to partner institutions, including overseas provision.

Educated to honours degree level, or equivalent, with a Higher Degree in a relevant discipline or an equivalent professional qualification, you will have significant experience in post 16 teaching (key stage 3 and above) in one or more national curriculum subjects. You will be able to supervise students on dissertations and other extended projects at undergraduate and postgraduate level and be able to teach other areas pertinent to the development of professional educators.

The Tees Valley is an enjoyable place to live – in the heart of the North of England's coastline and countryside, with easy access to Durham, Newcastle and York.

Apply now if you would like to join us.

This post is available on a full-time or job share basis. (If you wish to apply on a job share basis you must state this on your application).

Application forms and further details are available online at www.tees.ac.uk or from the Human Resources Department, Teesside University, Middlesbrough, Tees Valley, TS1 3BA. E-mail: jobs@tees.ac.uk or tel 01642 342200 (24 hours).

Quality Enhancement Manager

£40,648 - £46,733

Centre for Learning and Teaching Enhancement Hendon Hendon

The Quality Enhancement Manager will take a leading role in the approval and quality monitoring of the University's academic partners (working closely with the University's Academic Partnerships service), and in the development and management of the University's quality monitoring processes. The role calls for a clear appreciation of national academic quality assurance developments, and a sound experience of implementing quality assurance procedures or academic regulations. Interviews for the post will also involve a short presentation by the candidate.
