

THE APPPOINTMENTS

Contents

Senior Management/Heads of Department	60-68
Professors/Readers/Principals/Senior Lecturers	68
Lecturers/Fellows/Tutors/Researchers/Studentships	69-70
General Appointments	70

EXECUTIVE FOCUS

Pages 30-31

To place an advertisement please write to: Recruitment Advertising, Times Higher Education, 26 Red Lion Square, Holborn, London WC1R 4HQ Tel: 020 3194 3399 Email: recruitment@timeshighereducation.co.uk
Booking deadline: Friday 11am the week of publication. Your advertisement will appear on www.timeshighereducation.co.uk/jobs for 4 weeks or until the application closing date if stated (whichever is sooner), unless specified otherwise or for technical reasons we are unable to display it. All advertisements published are subject to terms and conditions of TSL Education Ltd (available on request).

University
of Glasgow

Vice-Principal Internationalisation

The University of Glasgow, established in 1451, is a member of the prestigious Russell Group of UK research-intensive universities. With over 23,000 students from more than 120 countries it is a truly global institution with an international reputation for academic excellence, cutting edge research and the delivery of an exceptional student experience.

The University has a strong tradition of extending its reach worldwide. Our graduates have contributed to economic, environmental and social development on every continent around the globe. The Internationalisation strategy articulates the University's commitment to further enhancing its global reputation through partnership development, collaborative programmes, research, curriculum development and staff and student mobility.

The University is seeking to appoint a new Vice-Principal Internationalisation to provide strategic leadership and vision in the achievement of its internationalisation goals. A demonstrable track record in leadership in a complex leading university or research institution is essential. Your knowledge of the Higher Education environment within the UK and beyond will be second to none. You will be able to exchange that knowledge to lead effective change and management to create a culture of positive, highly-performing, effective teams. Excellent knowledge of the challenges faced by UK universities in the future and an understanding of the many dimensions of a top 100 global university will be key to your success.

Informal enquiries to Professor Neal Juster, Senior Vice-Principal,
Tel: +44 141 330 8496, E-mail: Neal.Juster@glasgow.ac.uk

Apply online at www.glasgow.ac.uk/jobs

Closing date: 29 September 2013.

The University is committed to equality of opportunity in employment.

The University of Glasgow, charity number SC004401.

www.glasgow.ac.uk

Discover your Future at the University of Lincoln School of Chemistry

College of Science | Competitive salary | Post reference: COS011

Founding Head of the School of Chemistry

With new Schools in Engineering, Pharmacy, Chemistry and Mathematics, the University of Lincoln is putting Science at the heart of its future.

Where exceptional individuals make a world of difference.

A unique opportunity to establish a new school within the University of Lincoln's College of Science.

The Lincoln School of Chemistry is being established with support from HEFCE's Catalyst Fund. It will deliver innovative programmes in partnership with industry. The School will work across the College of Science on developing interdisciplinary links. It will establish a world-class reputation in its research specialisms.

The new School of Chemistry is part of the University's ambitious expansion in STEM, which also includes new Schools of Pharmacy, Mathematics and Engineering.

We wish to recruit an inspirational leader as Founding Head of the new School. In this position, your role will be to guide the School through the initial period of development, including recruitment of staff, establishing research, developing an innovative, accredited curriculum and building industry links.

You will have strong management skills and the ability to develop a talented and motivated team to fulfil its potential. As a member of the College Management Team, you will have a collegiate approach and the ambition to succeed in an exciting, thriving and supportive atmosphere.

Lincoln is a forward-thinking, ambitious and international institution and you will be working in the heart of a beautiful, safe and friendly city.

If you would like to be part of shaping our world-class vision, please contact Imogen Wilde at Harvey Nash on +44 (0) 207 333 1503 or 07791 938533 for an informal conversation about this opportunity.

For further information or to apply online please visit our website at jobs.lincoln.ac.uk.

If you have any other queries please email jobs@lincoln.ac.uk or telephone +44 (0) 1522 886 775. Please quote the job reference number and title in all correspondence.

Closing date 6th October 2013

The University of Lincoln is an equal opportunities employer and welcomes applications from all sections of society.

Vice-Chancellor

The University of East Anglia (UEA) is seeking to appoint a Vice-Chancellor to succeed Professor Edward Acton, who retires in summer 2014. S/he must provide academic and executive leadership to this ambitious University, and continue to build on its success.

Founded in 1963, UEA is an internationally-renowned university providing high quality academic, social and cultural facilities for over 14,000 students. Offering undergraduate and postgraduate degrees across the arts and humanities, social sciences, health and science, UEA has enjoyed increasing success and global profile. The University is ranked No. 1 in the UK in the Times Higher Education Student Experience Survey 2013, is in the top 20 in the Guardian and Complete University guides, as well as being placed in the top 1% of universities globally by the THE World Rankings, and in the World Top 100 by the Leiden Rankings.

The successful candidate will bring passion, energy and a genuine commitment to the mission and values of UEA, articulating a compelling vision for its future that will inspire its dedicated students and staff. S/he will engender a culture of creativity and innovation that will enable UEA to capitalise further on its excellence in research and education, its distinctive campus environment and the unique opportunities it affords for engagement with key academic and commercial partners, particularly on the Norwich Research Park. The Vice-Chancellor will also ensure that the University continues to play a leading role in the economic and cultural development of its region and beyond, working in close partnership with key stakeholders to drive up graduate employability, and to maximise inward investment and enterprise opportunities.

For further details, including job description, person specification and information on how to apply, please see www.perrettlaver.com/candidates quoting reference 1335.

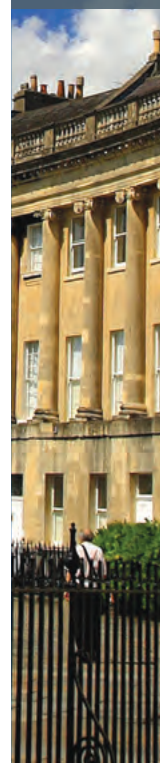

The deadline for applications is midday on Monday 7th October 2013.

Associate Dean Finance and Planning

Salary: competitive

Ref: CC1903

Recognised both internationally and nationally as one of the leading business schools in both research and teaching, this new role of Associate Dean Finance and Planning will be central to the future development of the School of Management. This key position will play a central part in creating and delivering the School's long term strategy to build on its current excellence in rankings.

The Associate Dean Finance and Planning will lead financial and workload management plus strategic planning within the school as well as managing key strategic projects. To support the Dean in achieving the School's aims will require you to influence and manage academic and non-academic colleagues to develop and deliver strategic change activities.

For more information about the School and its activities please go to: <http://www.bath.ac.uk/management/>

If you wish to make an informal and confidential enquiry, please contact Professor Veronica Hope Hailey, Dean of the School of Management Tel: (+44) (0) 1225 38 6632 or Professor Andrew Millington, Deputy Dean of the School of Management Tel: (+44) (0) 1225 38 3068.

To find out more and apply, please visit www.bath.ac.uk/jobs

Closing date: Wednesday 25 September 2013.

Shaped by the past, creating the future

GREY COLLEGE VICE-MASTER

£37,382 to £44,607 per annum (pro-rata)

REF 2715

COLLINGWOOD COLLEGE VICE-PRINCIPAL

£37,382 to £44,607 per annum (pro-rata)

REF 2954

The Vice Master/Vice Principal will be a member of the College's senior management team and have a major role in its strategic development. He or she will work closely with all members of the College community (Junior, Middle and Senior Common Rooms, alumni, and staff), and collaborate with the University's academic departments, research centres and professional services, to further develop and enhance the College scholarly community and the broader student experience.

Both posts are permanent 0.5 posts. Candidates may apply for either post or both; please indicate in your covering letter which post you are applying for.

Closing date: 28th September 2013.

Further details for these posts are available on our website (<http://www.dur.ac.uk/jobs/>)

HUGHES HALL Cambridge

President

Hughes Hall is one of the 31 constituent Colleges of the University of Cambridge. It is a college for mature students, including not only postgraduates but also some undergraduates. Its Governing Body intends to elect a new President as Head of House to succeed Mrs Sarah Squire, who will be leaving office on 30th September 2014.

Applications are welcome from candidates with a distinguished record of achievement in academic or professional life, with the ability to command the respect of members of the College and represent Hughes Hall within the University and beyond. The President is expected to be an effective ambassador for the College who integrates with the College community, provides inspirational leadership and makes a major contribution to its ambitious development projects and the pursuit of academic excellence.

It is expected that the appointment will be half-time for eight years from October 1st 2014. The stipend will be pro rata and pensionable at an appropriate point on the University Professorial scale. Further particulars and additional information about the College can be downloaded from www.hughes.cam.ac.uk.

Applications comprising a letter, cv and details of three referees should be marked "Private and Confidential" and addressed to the Bursar, Mr Neil Taylor, Hughes Hall, Cambridge CB1 2EW, to arrive no later than noon on October 17th 2013. Informal enquiries before that date are welcome and can be arranged by contacting the Bursar through bursar@hughes.cam.ac.uk or 01223 334891.

Hughes Hall is an equal opportunities employer.

www.hughes.cam.ac.uk

THE Print
Online
Mobile

020 3194 3399

www.timeshighereducation.co.uk

KING'S College
LONDON

Director of Undergraduate Psychology

King's College London seeks a Director of Undergraduate Psychology to establish an innovative new Psychology programme at the Institute of Psychiatry. The programme will be unique in terms of its philosophy, course structure, curriculum and pedagogy and will draw upon the strengths of the Institute of Psychiatry, the School of Social Science and Public Policy, and the School of Biomedical Sciences at King's. This is an exciting opportunity to develop a distinctive undergraduate Psychology degree in the heart of London at one of the top 30 universities in the world (2012/13 QS World University Rankings).

The Institute of Psychiatry (IoP) is Europe's largest academic centre for research and post-graduate education in psychiatry, psychology, and neuroscience. It is the most cited research centre outside the United States in the fields of psychology and psychiatry, and the second most cited in the world. The 2008 Research Assessment Exercise judged the IoP to have the highest research power of any UK institution within the areas of psychiatry, psychology and neuroscience.

King's has one of the largest groups of basic and clinical scientists studying brain development, disease and repair in the world, with research Centres focusing on Neuroscience, the Cellular Basis of Behaviour, Neurodegeneration Developmental Neurobiology and Social, Genetic and Developmental Psychiatry. King's College London is part of the UK's largest Academic Health Sciences Centre, King's Health Partners (KHP). The College also houses leading psychology research in the fields of organisational psychology and organisational behaviour, and the philosophy of science, psychology and cognitive and behavioural neuroscience.

The Director will hold the position of Chair/ Reader in Psychology within the Department of Psychology at the IoP, dependent upon experience. S/he will be energetic and visionary, working collaboratively across the College to deliver the new undergraduate degree. The successful candidate will exercise high-level academic leadership, education and research, and will demonstrate experience of leading and developing a British Psychological Society-accredited undergraduate Psychology programme.

The position will require travel between the campuses of King's College London. The appointment will be made at salary levels settled by negotiation, dependent on relevant experience. Applicants will hold a PhD and will demonstrate a depth of expertise in the teaching of undergraduate Psychology.

To apply for this position, or to receive further particulars of the appointment, please contact King's Search (email: michael.j.tucker@kcl.ac.uk).

Closing date for receipt of applications is 27th September 2013.

Equality of opportunity is College policy

Institute of Psychiatry
at The Maudsley

Distinguish yourself

THE Support has helped a number of leading universities save ££££s already.

Find out how much we could save you on recruitment!

THE SUPPORT

020 3194 3399

www.timeshighereducation.co.uk/support

DIRECTOR OF LIBRARY SERVICES

Dublin City University (www.dcu.ie) is a research intensive, dynamic institution. Radical in its strategy from the outset, it has always been particularly responsive to the needs of business and industry, both in its programmes of study and its research. DCU is committed to preparing students for success in life, and in the workplace, by providing a rounded education appropriate to the demands of the 21st Century. As a University of Enterprise, it is characterised by a focus on innovation and entrepreneurship, close engagement with the enterprise sector in its research and education activities, and the ability to move quickly and effect change. DCU is home to world class research centres that focus on translating their outputs into societal and economic benefits, and is committed to continuing its vigorous contribution to the development of Ireland as a globalised knowledge society.

DCU is now seeking to recruit a dynamic, innovative and experienced individual to the position of Director of Library Services. This position presents an exciting opportunity to make a significant contribution to the future of DCU as it enters its next stage of development. The ideal candidate will have a track record of leadership and senior management experience in a university library, at both strategic and expert level. S/he will also be results-driven with the ability to operate effectively within the fast-paced and demanding environment of DCU and the wider Irish higher education sector.

The appointment will be made on a permanent or fixed term contract basis. An attractive salary, commensurate with the successful applicant's experience, will be offered to the holder of the post.

Closing date for applications is Friday 11th October 2013.

Informal enquiries should be addressed by email to the University Deputy President, Mr Jim Dowling, jim.dowling@dcu.ie

Application Procedure

Application forms and a full job description are available from the DCU Current Vacancies (open Competitions) website at <http://www.dcu.ie/vacancies/current.shtml> and also from the Human Resources Department, Dublin City University, Dublin 9. Tel: +353 (0) 1 7005149.

Applications should be submitted by email to hr.applications@dcu.ie or by Fax: +353 (0) 1 7005500 or by post to the Human Resources Department, Dublin City University, Dublin 9.

Dublin City University is an equal opportunities employer.

Dublin City University, Ollscoil Chathair Bhaile Átha Cliath

the platform to reach the widest audience of higher education professionals

020 3194 3399

www.timeshighereducation.co.uk

Harper Adams
University

Director of Learning and Teaching

Harper Adams University specialises in teaching, research and knowledge transfer in the agricultural, food, land-based and environmental disciplines and is the largest higher education institution of its kind in the UK. It has an outstanding record of achievement in teaching quality, graduate employability and in the National Student Survey and a reputation for delivering applied research and knowledge transfer of direct relevance to industry.

The Director of Learning and Teaching is a new post that will play a critical role in ensuring high standards in all aspects of the student experience, from teaching, student engagement and student support to developing our curriculum, creating new opportunities for learning and teaching, at home and overseas, and ensuring that the quality of our provision is maintained and improved. A member of the Vice-Chancellor's Senior Team, the Director of Learning and Teaching will be expected to contribute to the development and implementation of The University's Strategic Plan as well as a range of underpinning initiatives. He/she will be required to report regularly to the Board of Governors and its Committees and to liaise effectively with external stakeholders.

Candidates will be educated at higher degree level and will be a Fellow, and preferably a Senior or Principal Fellow, of the Higher Education Academy. They will also be able to demonstrate a strategic perspective on the contribution of academic quality management to the University's planning systems and the achievement of University objectives, together with excellent written and communication skills when engaging with internal and external stakeholders at all levels. The ability and willingness to travel overseas on a regular basis will be required.

Applications from people who have worked at a senior level in a learning and teaching role in other Universities would be particularly welcome.

Applications Procedure: To download the appointment details for this role including the job description, person specification and information on how to apply, please visit our website: jobs.harper-adams.ac.uk

Closing date for receipt of applications: Friday 27 September 2013. Shortlisted candidates will be required to attend a tour of facilities and a meeting with staff on 9 October 2013, and interviews will be held on 10 October 2013.

UNIVERSITY OF
OXFORD

The University of Oxford is recruiting for two key positions within the University, the Director of the Ashmolean Museum and Bodley's Librarian.

Director

The Ashmolean Museum

The University of Oxford intends to make an appointment to the Directorship of the Ashmolean Museum, in succession to Professor Christopher Brown who will retire from the directorship in September 2014. The Director will build on the successes following the re-development of the Ashmolean, led by Professor Brown with great distinction and to international acclaim over the past 15 years.

Central to the Museum's mission is the work to make its collections of art and archaeology accessible to the widest possible audiences and it welcomes 1 million visitors each year, making it England's most visited museum outside London.

Working closely with departments, faculties and colleges, the Director will sustain the collections at the centre of the University's teaching and research as well as maintaining and developing the museum's commitment to public access and education. The Directorship is associated with a fellowship at a college.

The successful candidate will have operational leadership experience in a major museum and, ideally, an international reputation for intellectual leadership in their chosen field. Experience of fundraising, collections management, and education/outreach activities is essential.

Bodley's Librarian

The Bodleian Libraries

The University of Oxford intends to make an appointment to the post of Bodley's Librarian following the departure of Dr Sarah Thomas. The Bodleian Libraries contain the largest and most diverse collections for the support of teaching and research in any institution of higher education in the United Kingdom. With an annual budget of more than £30 million and employing more than 500 full-time staff, the Bodleian Libraries is the largest unitary department in the University.

As the Executive Head of the Bodleian Libraries, this role is recognised as one of the most senior appointments internationally in the library profession. Bodley's Librarian is a member of the University and college community, and the successful candidate will be offered a fellowship at one of the University's colleges. Bodley's Librarian is responsible for the strategy and management of the Bodleian Libraries and leads on its maintenance, provision and development – advising the Curators of the University Libraries and the PVC with responsibility for University collections in their oversight of library provision for the University.

Applicants will have had experience at an equivalent senior level in major academic libraries, museums, galleries, or other comparable institutions.

For further information, including how to apply, please refer to the website of our employment agency advisors, Saxton Bampfylde Ltd, at www.saxbam.com/jobs, using reference BPEX for the Ashmolean Museum role and BPEY for the Bodley's role. Alternatively, email BPEX@saxbam.com (Ashmolean), or BPEY@saxbam.com (Bodley), or telephone +44 (0)20 7227 0890 (during office hours). Applications should arrive not later than noon on Thursday 3rd October 2013.

Saxton Bampfylde

WE'RE INVESTING IN THE FUTURE FOR EVERYONE.

Our Future and Yours

An ambitious university, we are proud of our achievements and our people. That's why we are investing in our provision of high quality teaching, research and enterprise. We want to be recognised the world over for our commitment to student success, innovation and global reach. Join us, our 27,000 students and 2,800 staff, and play a big role in that vision.

Head of Strategic Planning Support

£53,233 to £63,846

Join a high profile leadership team and lead the development and delivery of institutional policy and planning support processes, and performance, review and improvement strategies. A well-networked and influential leader within HE, your people and resource management skills will be superb as you expertly translate our vision into practical plans.

Associate Director – Student Planning and Reporting Services

£53,233 to £63,846

Join our Student Administration Services leadership team and deliver a range of high quality data intelligence services that underpin our strategic plans. With a detailed understanding of current HE planning and reporting issues and strong focus on the student experience, you will have a successful track record of managing teams and forging effective professional relationships with internal and external stakeholders.

Associate Director – Customer Marketing

£53,233 to £63,846

Lead the development and delivery of diverse digital and print marketing services — all informed by insight — as you drive engaging UG, PG and international student marketing campaigns. An innovative thinker with a deep awareness of multiple marketing disciplines and stakeholder engagement within HE, you will shape strategies with measurable outputs and have responsibility for Brand Guardianship.

To join us on our journey, visit www.investinginleedsmet.co.uk
Closing date: 4 October 2013.

Leeds Metropolitan University values the diversity of its workforce and student

LEEDS
METROPOLITAN UNIVERSITY

www.investinginleedsmet.co.uk

Investing in leadership excellence

Appointment of two Heads of School

Our vision is of Newcastle as a civic university with a global reputation for academic excellence. Achieving this vision requires leadership – the ability to bring out the best in others, to make lasting changes and to set standards that are second to none.

As a Head of School within our renowned Faculty of Science, Agriculture and Engineering, you will combine these qualities with an outstanding record of leadership achievement, strong academic credentials and an outward-looking, inter-disciplinary approach that capitalises on the breadth of Newcastle's portfolio. In return we offer you the opportunity to put your ideas into practice in a senior leadership position, promoting a culture of ambition supported by the university's international profile as a member of the Russell Group and its key role in the life and economy of the North East of England.

Head of the School of Agriculture, Food and Rural Development

Ref: G573

With an emerging emphasis on food security and rural development, the School's research and engagement extend across the natural and social sciences. The School houses three internationally renowned research groups - the Centre for Rural Economy, Nafferton Ecological Farming Group, and Centre for Renewable Energy from Land - and benefits from two off-campus farms.

Head of the School of Marine Science and Technology

Ref: G574

Focusing on the sustainable use of natural resources, the School is unique in providing a single base for all research, education and innovation related to the sea. With its commitment to inter-disciplinarity, the School benefits from a range of outstanding facilities including the Hydrodynamics Laboratory and Emerson Cavitation Tunnel, as well as The Princess Royal research vessel.

For a confidential discussion, contact Christopher Lake at Syllogism on +44 (0)20 3417 6076 or email: newcastle@syllogism.co.uk

To find out more about becoming a Head of School, please go to www.ncl.ac.uk/vacancies

Closing date: 10am GMT on 10 October 2013.

Excellence
with a Purpose

Committed to Equal Opportunities

www.ncl.ac.uk/vacancies

Dean, Duncan of Jordanstone College of Art & Design

Duncan of Jordanstone College of Art and Design at the University of Dundee is one of the premier Schools of Art and Design in Europe. There are approximately 1,100 undergraduate, taught Masters and research postgraduate students. As part of a modern University, students and staff at DJCAD take advantage of all that a large educational institution has to offer, within a centre of excellence where art and design intersect with other disciplines.

The University of Dundee is now seeking exceptional candidates to join the University as Dean at a time of unparalleled and transformational opportunity. Art and Design is recognised by the University as one of its three central research pillars and therefore critical to Dundee's determination to operate on a world stage as Scotland's leading university. The City of Dundee is a finalist to be named UK City of Culture 2017. The V&A in Dundee will be a further indication that the University and the City have an appetite to showcase the very best of art and design. Art & Design's position within the wider University offers unlimited opportunities for the development of interdisciplinary collaborations and cutting edge research.

Candidates will have the vision and imagination to lead Duncan of Jordanstone, already Scotland's leading art and design research institution, to global recognition, putting research at the heart of the School's activity, while maintaining the excellent student experience. They will have the skills and experience to provide exceptional leadership both within the University and in Scotland's creative industries. They are likely to be internationally recognised for their own research and will have the scope to continue with this.

For more information, including how to apply, please refer to the website of Saxton Bampfylde at www.saxbam.com/jobs using job reference AUDC. Alternatively, email AUDC@saxbam.com or telephone +44 (0)20 7227 0890 (during office hours). Applications should arrive not later than noon on Thursday 3rd October 2013.

Saxton Bampfylde

University of
South Wales
Prifysgol
De Cymru

Deputy Dean – salary £75,835pa
Head of Computing & Maths – salary £67,394 to £69,411pa
Faculty of Computing, Engineering and Science (Pontypridd near Cardiff)

The newly merged University of South Wales is now the 6th largest university in the UK with over 33,000 students, 5 campuses and 3,500 staff. The institution was created in April 2013 as a result of the coming together of the former University of Glamorgan and the University of Wales Newport and enjoys a market leading reputation for delivering outstanding vocational studies and achieving high student employment (94%).

The University is now seeking two exceptional individuals to help this Faculty take forward its significant academic portfolio.

If you would like to informally discuss either opportunity, please contact Dr Rhobert Lewis, Dean of Faculty on 01433 482336.

Closing date: Friday 4th October 2013

Details and application form are available on our website:

www.southwales.ac.uk/jobs

THE

the platform to reach the widest audience of higher education professionals

Print
Online
Mobile

020 3194 3399

www.timeshighereducation.co.uk/support

HEAD OF ACADEMIC PARTNERSHIPS AND
MARKETING £65,000 - £79,000

We are looking for a dynamic and experienced education and/or marketing professional to join our senior management team to lead the development of our relationships and provision with school and university partners, and to lead our award winning marketing team.

As a tertiary college we recruit from more than 60 schools in the region and sponsor three local academies as part of our multi-academy trust. We also have a thriving higher education provision which we offer in partnership with five universities.

For further information visit www.bridgwater.ac.uk or telephone 01278 441221

Closing date: 12 noon Friday 27 September 2013

Interview dates: Monday 14 and Tuesday 15 October 2013

A woman in a black suit stands between the large red letters 'BU' and 'LD' of the word 'BUILD'. The letters are very large, and the woman is positioned in the center, her body acting as a separator between the two parts of the word. The background is plain white.

Head of Careers & Recruitment Service £65k

Graduate employability is becoming an ever more important measure of university success and we are committed to offering our students the very best advice and support in their first or next career moves while engaging employers closely to ensure we continue to meet their skills needs. You'll lead this vital area of work and support and advise academic staff to ensure our curriculum responds to employers' and students' feedback.

This is a highly visible role within and beyond our University, leading on one of our key strategic priorities. You'll make a considerable contribution to our profile and reputation, promoting the University of Bedfordshire to both students and employers. You may already have direct experience in a similar role, but an appropriate depth of resourcing experience in a non-education setting could be equally relevant. The ability to establish effective relationships will be key and you'll be a hugely important interface between the academic and economic objectives of the University. You should be confident working in a results focused environment and present a clear track record in leading high performing teams.

Visit www.proventureconsulting.co.uk to find out more. Alternatively, for an informal and confidential discussion please contact Mark Tobin (07717 725844) or Stephen Cooley (07747 698829) at Proventure Consulting. Closing date: 7 October.

THE Support has helped a number of leading universities save ££££s already.

Find out how much
we could save you
on recruitment!

THE SUPPORT
020 3194 3399

www.timeshighereducation.co.uk/support

Exciting new roles
now on offer.

The University of Tasmania was founded in 1890 on the best of academic traditions that embrace excellence and commitment to free inquiry in the creation and application of knowledge. Ranked in the top 3 per cent of universities worldwide and in the top 10 research universities in Australia, the University has a strong and distinctive Tasmanian identity which underpins teaching and research that is international in scope, vision and standards.

The Faculty of Health Science has a long and distinguished history and strong reputation nationally and internationally for high quality research and success with competitive grant funding. The Faculty is characterised by an entrepreneurial inter-professional culture, high quality professional health programs and strong partnerships with health service providers. The Faculty's research strengths are in the following themes: dementia and translational neurosciences, health service providers, prevention and management of chronic disease, and technology enhanced learning and teaching.

The University is seeking to make appointments to the following positions:

ACADEMIC

Clinic Manager and Professional Experience Coordinator – Psychology

Vacancy No 409

Senior Lecturer in Psychology

Vacancy No 410

Lecturer in Psychology

Vacancy No 411

Associate Professor/
Professor of Clinical Psychology

Vacancy No 412

For information on these positions and other career opportunities:
www.utas.edu.au/jobs

UNIVERSITY OF TASMANIA

001210MESSEK CHICAGO PROVIDER CONF# 005068

THE

Print | Online | Mobile

020 3194 3399
www.timeshighereducation.co.uk

YOUR SUPPORT WILL TACKLE CHALLENGES.

Ministry of Defence

BURNHAM LECTURER ICT

DCCIS, Blandford

Ref: 1352326

An excellent opportunity has become available for existing lecturers and experienced practitioners in ICT subjects to become part of a team of lecturers teaching at degree and post-graduate level to highly motivated specialist communications engineers in the Royal Corps of Signals. Expertise is required principally in data communications but support is also required across a wide range of ICT topics from electronics and RF engineering, through operating systems, to project and services management.

You will have a degree in a relevant subject, at least at Bachelors level, and have some practical industrial or academic experience. A teaching qualification is highly desirable but experienced practitioners without the qualification who show teaching potential can be funded to attain one within 2 years after appointment. CCNA certification is also desired and experience of network management. Other relevant vocational qualifications would also be an advantage, such as CCNP, PRINCE2 and ITIL, as is experience of working in a military environment and working towards chartered status in a professional institution. Opportunities also exist to develop personal professional and technical competencies and qualifications.

Additional benefits include 30 days annual holiday and excellent sporting facilities.

Informal enquiries can be made to Nigel Rich on email: DCCIS-ICTF-Hd@mod.uk

Applications must be made on www.civilianjobs.mod.uk and be supported by a full CV.

Closing date: 26 September 2013.

The MOD is an Equal Opportunities employer and seeks to reflect the diverse community it serves. Applications are welcome from anyone who meets the stated requirements.

A Force for Good.
www.civilianjobs.mod.uk

SHAPE YOUR FUTURE

Based in flourishing Stratford, home of the 2012 Olympics, Newham College University Centre is the higher education faculty of Newham College London. Our courses combine high quality teaching with fees that are very affordable, as we aim to encourage wider participation in higher education.

This position is subject to DBS (Disclosure and Barring Service, previously known as CRB) clearance. The College is committed to safeguarding and promotes the welfare of all learners and expects all staff to share this commitment. NUC is an equal opportunities employer.

To apply, please complete our online application form at www.newham.ac.uk
CVs are not acceptable.
Closing Date: 26 September 2013.

Lecturer in Academic Skills £32,592 pa + attractive benefits, Stratford

We are seeking an HE Lecturer who can contribute to the development and teaching of a variety of modules in the core academic skills of study skills, computer tools, critical thinking and research methods.

You will teach on a broad range of courses ranging from Psychology to Counselling and Combined Studies. A post-graduate qualification in a relevant area is essential along with a strong track record in lecturing. A Psychology background would be helpful. Ref:3808.

NUC
newham college university centre

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

Lecturer in Product Design

Ref: 1362512/E

Salary: £32,285 - £45,967

Base: Jordanstown

Closing date: 27 September 2013

The School of Engineering provides undergraduate and postgraduate degrees across a broad range of academic disciplines including mechanical engineering, electrical/electronic engineering, engineering management, (production and manufacturing), technology with design, sports technology and biomedical engineering. The School is noted for its teaching and research strengths in bioengineering which includes the application of engineering to medicine; nanotechnology, the creation of new materials atom-by-atom for a range of applications, such as bio-sensing, tissue-engineering, connected health and drug delivery; and in the development of composite materials and metal forming processes for use in the aerospace, automotive and construction industries. The School's expertise in these areas and others is highly sought by industry and has spawned a number of successful spinout companies. Research is supported by a wide range of funding bodies including EPSRC, European Framework, industry and government enterprise.

The postholder will teach product design across both undergraduate and postgraduate provision and will contribute to research, academic enterprise and administrative activities within the School. While applicants with experience in the development of design driven innovation are encouraged to apply preference will be given to applicants with a record of success in securing external research funding.

We prefer to issue and receive applications via our on-line recruitment website at www.ulster.ac.uk/jobs

Hard copy applications can be obtained by telephoning 028 7012 4072

The University is an equal opportunities employer and welcomes applicants from all sections of the community, particularly from those with disabilities. Appointment will be made on merit.

JESUS COLLEGE
OXFORD

THE FACULTY OF PHILOSOPHY,
UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

Tutorial Fellowship and University Lecturership (CUF) in Moral Philosophy

Jesus College and the Faculty of Philosophy of the University of Oxford welcome applications for a Tutorial Fellowship in Philosophy to be held in conjunction with a University Lecturership (CUF) in Philosophy. The post is for a specialist in the field of Moral Philosophy. Candidates should be able to devise and give high-quality research-led tutorials, classes, and lectures for undergraduates, conduct graduates classes, and supervise graduate students. They should also have an excellent research record. The postholder will enjoy an exceptionally rich academic environment in which to pursue research and teaching in the field. The post will be filled from 1 September 2014 or as soon as possible thereafter.

The salary will be on a scale currently from £43,312 - £58,157 per annum, with substantial additional benefits, including a pensionable housing allowance of £9,986 per annum payable to non-residential Tutorial Fellows; a responsibility allowance of £1,451 per annum; and a choice of schemes for research and teaching expenses, amounting to between £1,500 and £1,700 per annum. Jesus College operates an equity sharing scheme, to assist Fellows in purchasing their house. Additional College and Faculty allowances are available. Further particulars (containing details of the duties and full range of emoluments and allowances) may be obtained from the Principal's Secretary, Jesus College, Oxford, OX1 3DW (+44 (0)1865 279718, email helen.gee@jesus.ox.ac.uk) or may be viewed on the College's website at www.jesus.ox.ac.uk.

Candidates must submit all application materials via email, to jobs@philosophy.ox.ac.uk; Candidates should ask three referees to write directly to the Administrator and Secretary to the Philosophy Faculty Board at the email address given above, by the deadline by the closing date of 7 October 2013.

Jesus College and the University of Oxford are equal opportunities employers.

2014 RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS AND STUDENTSHIPS

The Leverhulme Trust is currently accepting applications for the following research fellowships and studentships:

The Leverhulme Trust

RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS enable experienced researchers - whether employed in academia or as established independent researchers - to undertake a programme of research on a topic of their choice. Up to £45,000 is available for research costs, replacement teaching costs, or loss of earnings. Fellowships are offered for periods of 3-24 months, and must begin between 1 June 2014 and 1 May 2015. Approximately 90 fellowships are available in 2014. Closing date: 7 November 2013.

INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC FELLOWSHIPS provide established UK researchers with an opportunity to spend a concentrated period of time in one or more research centres outside the UK, in order to develop new knowledge, skills and ideas, for example by learning new techniques, collaborating with colleagues overseas, or developing innovations in teaching. Up to £30,000 is available to provide replacement teaching costs and research and travel costs. Fellowships are offered for periods of 3-12 months, and must begin between 1 June 2014 and 1 May 2015. Approximately 15 fellowships are available in 2014. Closing date: 7 November 2013.

EMERITUS FELLOWSHIPS enable retired academics from UK institutions to complete a body of research for publication. Up to £22,000 is available for research costs directly related to the project. Fellowships are offered for periods of 3-24 months, and must begin between 1 August 2014 and 1 July 2015. Approximately 30 fellowships are available in 2014. Closing date: 6 February 2014.

STUDY ABROAD STUDENTSHIPS enable a period of advanced study or research anywhere in the world, except for the UK and USA. To qualify, applicants need to: hold an undergraduate degree; have been resident in the UK for at least five years; hold a degree at any level from a UK university; and either currently be registered as a student, or have been a registered student within the last eight years. Up to £17,000 per annum is available for maintenance and travel; additional help with fees, research costs, and maintenance for dependents may also be provided. Fellowships are offered for periods of 12-24 months, and must begin between 1 June 2014 and 1 May 2015. Approximately 20 studentships are available in 2014. Closing date: 13 January 2014.

For details and application information, please visit the Leverhulme Trust website: www.leverhulme.ac.uk Contact us on 020 7042 9861/9863 or email grants@leverhulme.ac.uk.

Registered Charity No. 288371.

We are a dynamic and successful Tertiary College in Street, Somerset. We are expanding our engineering provision at Strode College as a result of which we have the following vacancies:

HEAD OF ENGINEERING

£34,086 - £37,355 + recruitment bonus

This is an exciting new post for a suitably experienced person to have the opportunity to inspire, lead and expand the engineering provision. The successful candidate will be responsible for all teaching and learning within the Engineering department and will manage the individual course managers and lecturers.

A suitably qualified candidate will be eligible for £1500 recruitment bonus.

COURSE MANAGER HND ENGINEERING

£26,126 - £34,086 + recruitment bonus

To lead our new HND in Engineering. The successful candidate will also teach BTEC Extended Diploma and/or BTEC Level 2 Engineering.

A suitably qualified candidate will be eligible for £1500 recruitment bonus.

Details on our website www.strode-college.ac.uk or contact the Personnel Office Fax/Ans 01458 844450 (24hrs)

Closing Date: 30th September 2013 at 2pm

University of South Wales
Prifysgol De Cymru

Deputy Dean – salary £75,835pa
Head of Computing & Maths – salary £67,394 to £69,411pa
Faculty of Computing, Engineering and Science (Pontypridd near Cardiff)

The newly merged University of South Wales is now the 6th largest university in the UK with over 33,000 students, 5 campuses and 3,500 staff. The institution was created in April 2013 as a result of the coming together of the former University of Glamorgan and the University of Wales Newport and enjoys a market leading reputation for delivering outstanding vocational studies and achieving high student employment (94%).

The University is now seeking two exceptional individuals to help this Faculty take forward its significant academic portfolio.

If you would like to informally discuss either opportunity, please contact Dr Rhobert Lewis, Dean of Faculty on 01433 482336.

Closing date: Friday 4th October 2013

Details and application form are available on our website:

www.southwales.ac.uk/jobs

