Vice-Chancellor's Office

Pro Vice-Chancellor (Learning & Teaching) Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research & Innovation)

Full Time

Location: Newcastle upon Tyne

Salary: Competitive Salary

Northumbria University is committed to the best teaching, research and knowledge exchange. We are determined to set global horizons and world-class standards. In line with our Vision for 2025, we have ambitious plans for development and are looking to recruit two Pro Vice-Chancellors of outstanding quality to lead the University's work in Learning and Teaching, and in Research and Innovation.

Key to the success of the role for Research and Innovation will be the ability to grow the reputation, quality and impact of research at Northumbria.

Key to the success of the role for Learning and Teaching will be the ability to build Northumbria's reputation for high-quality learning and teaching, and student experience.

Both appointments will require outstanding leadership, strategic capabilities and a proven ability to deliver in line with strategic plans.

Candidates will combine strong ambassadorial and networking skills with a record of successful leadership and management. In addition, given the seniority and scope of the role, candidates must have the academic or professional credibility to represent the University at its highest level in a wide array of contexts.

We offer an attractive reward and relocation package and the opportunity to work in an excellent environment and vibrant city.

For an informal discussion about the role please contact Lesley Lee, Acting Director of Human Resources at l.s.lee@Northumbria.ac.uk

Vice-Chancellor

Southampton Solent University is a dynamic and distinctive university dedicated to academic innovation, student enterprise and social justice. With outstanding facilities in a prime city centre location, we work closely with employers and the professions to deliver a vibrant student experience. The University is a regional player with strong local roots and a growing international reputation. Together with a strong financial position, these provide the platform to support our future growth and development.

We now wish to appoint a new Vice-Chancellor to build on the highly successful contribution of Professor Van Gore who retires in July 2014.

The successful candidate will be an exceptional leader with first class communication and partnership skills together with highly developed commercial acumen. Building on our significant successes, the new post-holder will enhance our reputation for academic quality, graduate employability and a transformational student experience. The new Vice-Chancellor will provide leadership in securing excellence in education, research and enterprise, for the benefit of students, staff and external stakeholders.

If you share our vision and have the skills and experience we seek, we would be keen to hear from you.
