CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

JOB REF: 011375

Closing date: 19 April 2019

The University of Liverpool seeks to strengthen leadership in key strategic areas through appointment to the following new role:

CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

The University of Liverpool is one of the UK's leading research institutions with an annual turnover of £545.7 million including £95.6 million for research. Consistently ranked in the top 200 universities worldwide, Liverpool is a member of the prestigious Russell Group of the UK's leading research universities. Led by our Vice-Chancellor, Professor Dame Janet Beer, the University is entering an exciting new era as we build on our dynamic reputation and performance in a rapidly evolving higher education environment. In order to help us achieve our ambitions, we are seeking to appoint a new Chief Operating Officer (COO).

This is a critical leadership role with responsibility for the operational and strategic management of the University's Professional Services, driving performance to deliver a first class professional service.

Working in close partnership with the Vice-Chancellor, members of the Senior Management Team and other stakeholders, the COO will provide strong and clear leadership and direction to ensure that the shape and the vision of Professional Services supports the delivery of the University's strategic goals.

This is a challenging and demanding, but hugely rewarding, role. To be successful, you will need to be an experienced, resilient and confident leader with an outstanding track record in high quality service provision, major change and performance improvement in a large and complex organisation. You will have proven clarity of thinking and analytical ability in decision making, and highly effective communication, influencing and relationship skills. You will lead an inclusive and collaborative working culture which values diversity and treats everyone with respect.

This is a career defining opportunity and the chance to have a real impact on shaping the strategic direction of Professional Services within the University of Liverpool.

香港中文大學
The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Dean of the Faculty of Business Administration

Founded in 1963, The Chinese University of Hong Kong (<http://www.cuhk.edu.hk>) is a forward-looking comprehensive research university with a global vision and a mission to combine tradition with modernity, and to bring together China and the West. With a team of over 3,220 full-time teaching and research staff, the University offers a broad spectrum of programmes up to the PhD level in various disciplines organized under eight faculties (namely Arts, Business Administration, Education, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Science and Social Science). In 2017-18, the undergraduate and postgraduate enrolments in the University's publicly-funded programmes have reached 17,040 and 3,570 respectively.

The Faculty of Business Administration (<http://www.baf.cuhk.edu.hk>), being the first to offer undergraduate and MBA programmes in Hong Kong, pioneered business education and has become a world leader in business research and education. With a focus on China and Asia, the Faculty also connects strongly with CUHK (Shenzhen), strategically located at the world's doorway to China, to provide an exceptional opportunity for knowledge creation in a culturally and economically important location. The Faculty comprises the Schools of Accountancy and Hotel & Tourism Management, and the Departments of Decision Sciences & Managerial Economics, Finance, Management and Marketing. Over 150 faculty members teach around 2,850 undergraduate and 1,775 postgraduate students. In addition, the Faculty operates a large number of public and in-house executive training activities.

The University now invites applications and nominations of qualified candidates for the Deanship of the Faculty. The Dean will be a member of the University senior management team, reporting to the University Council via the Vice-Chancellor/President or the Provost. As the academic and executive head of the Faculty, the Dean will provide academic leadership and discharge administrative responsibilities in respect of academic and non-academic staff as well as financial and student matters. He/she should be capable of establishing strong ties with local industries as well as regional and global business communities. The Dean will also actively engage in alumni and community relations and in extending networks.

Candidates should have an excellent academic standing appropriate for appointment at the level of a full Professor in the Faculty. They should have an appreciation of the breadth of research / educational developments in the relevant fields and the range of intellectual interests represented in the Faculty, demonstrated capability of academic leadership and strategic management in higher education institutions, a long-term vision for the development of the Faculty, and excellent interpersonal and communication skills.

Salary and fringe benefits for the post will be highly competitive, commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Please send applications/nominations preferably before end of June 2019 under confidential cover to the Search Committee for the Dean of the Faculty of Business Administration, c/o Human Resources Office, The Chinese University of Hong Kong, Shatin, N.T., Hong Kong [fax: (852) 3942 0947; e-mail: BA-Deanship-SC@cuhk.edu.hk]. The University is also being represented by Perrett Laver in this search [email: Arturo.Uriostegui@perrettlaver.com; tel: (852) 3702 6498]. All applications/nominations will be treated in strict confidence. The University's Personal Information Collection Statement will be provided upon request.

Consideration of applications/nominations will begin immediately and will continue until the post is filled. The University reserves the right to fill the post by invitation.

An exciting opportunity to contribute to internationally recognised research and help shape the future of Cognitive Analytics.

School of Computing, Engineering and Intelligent Systems

Dr George Moore Professor of Data Analytics (0.2FTE)

Ref: 1795098/E

Professor of Data Analytics

Ref: 1797116/E

Lecturer in Data Analytics (George Moore Fellow)

Ref: 1797117/E

Closing date: 26 April '19

Location: Magee

Ulster is a university in the top 2% globally, where excellence in teaching is underpinned by world-leading research. Ranked as one of the world's top 150 young universities and in the top 25% of UK universities for overall research, Ulster is ambitious, forward-thinking and outward-looking.

The Cognitive Analytics Research Laboratory is Northern Ireland's first data analytics institute. It is a £4 million investment in 12 new academic posts that will bring together businesses, government and advanced academic research expertise to find innovative application areas for cognitive analytics techniques.

It represents a key component of Ulster's strategic plan for the next five years, which encompasses an ambitious vision that will take us to our fiftieth anniversary in 2034.

The plan is focused on delivering a university that is sustainable and innovative with a strong international reputation for academic excellence and outstanding research.

Additionally the philanthropic investment of £5 million made by the Moore Family to endow the George Moore Chair in Data Analytics, cements Ulster University's reputation as a global leader in revolutionising artificial intelligence and data analytics with real time, real life impact.

Dr George Moore is often cited as a founding father of the data analytics industry. As an Honorary Graduate of Ulster University, the establishment of this prestigious endowed Chair in his name honours his significant contribution to this increasingly important field. This Chair supports Ulster's ambitions, as a centre of excellence in the field of data analytics, by providing funds to engage a stellar, world-class academic as well as an associated research fellow to increase our research power and impact.

The successful applicants will have a determined and resilient approach to leadership, encouraging creativity and innovation in a relevant area of data analytics and be able to build strong stakeholder relationships so as to play a key strategic role in enabling the University to fulfil its potential. They will join a new team and ensure the development and delivery of the Cognitive Analytics Research Laboratory and build and nurture partnerships (both external and internal) as required.

Attractive reward package including a competitive starting salary, pension scheme and financial assistance with relocation.
