Appointment of Pro Vice-Chancellor and Executive Dean of the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences

Keele University is seeking to appoint a strong leader to the position of Pro Vice-Chancellor and Executive Dean of the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences. The Faculty has an outstanding reputation for research and teaching and is set to play a key role in the University's very ambitious plans for the future, including significant growth.

Located in rural Staffordshire, between Manchester and Birmingham, the University has an international reach, a reputation for world-class research, high quality research-led education and an outstanding student experience, reflected in a Gold award in the TEF. We aim to build on the impact of our broad academic and research programmes, having invested heavily over the past 10 years in the campus and infrastructure.

The successful candidate will lead a diverse Faculty of over 700 staff and 2,000 students. Its constituent schools, including our Medical School, all enjoy top 10 rankings in discipline league tables and the Faculty supports world-class laboratory, community and hospital based research. The Faculty enjoys close ties with the University Hospitals of North Midlands (UHNH) NHS Trust and other local health providers. The new Dean will build upon these partnerships to develop and diversify the Faculty's education and research portfolios.

For more details, please contact Cadence Partners on 020 7947 4960 or visit www.cp-opportunities.co.uk/keele-pvc
Closing date: 6pm, 8th August 2017.

Keele University values diversity, and is committed to ensuring equality of opportunity, and to proper and fair representation across its senior decision making groups. In support of these commitments, the University particularly welcomes expressions of interest and applications from women and from individuals of black and ethnic minority backgrounds for this post.

Eighteen Vice-Chancellor Research Fellow Posts

Are you a high performing researcher looking to build success with the UK's leading business-facing University?

The University is investing in its future research staff and infrastructure, and has recently focused the delivery of its research under six Themes: Food; Global Economy; Health and Wellbeing; Heritage, Cultures and Communities; Information and Security; Space. These will assist in the further development of research excellence and provide both increased external profile and internal focus for Hertfordshire's research activities.

The eighteen Vice-Chancellor Research Fellow posts are each offered for a five-year term in the first instance. It is our expectation, however, that the successful appointees who grow their research and associated activities will have the opportunity to become a permanent academic staff member by the end of that period.

The posts, which are located in specific Academic Schools and aligned with one or more of the University Research Themes, are focused in the following areas:

- Art and Public Engagement – Vacancy number 014835
- Big Data Science from Large Observational Surveys – Vacancy number 014878
- Biocomputation, Mental Health and Wellbeing – Vacancy number 014834
- Cardiovascular Pharmacology – Vacancy number 014877
- Conflict, Memory and Legacy – Vacancy number 014876
- Developing Online Communities for People with Chronic Diseases – Vacancy number 014852
- Early Diagnosis and Dementia Care – Vacancy number 014883
- Exoplanet Research – Vacancy number 014874
- Food, Obesity and Young People – Vacancy number 014836
- Information Theory for AI and Robotics – Vacancy number 014833
- Intangible Cultural Heritage (ICH) – Vacancy number 014873
- Mechanistic Studies of Dermal Xenobiotic Sorption – Vacancy number 014881
- Neuromorphic Machine Learning – Vacancy number 014832
- Older People with Complex Health Needs – Vacancy number 014837

- Philosophy of Religious Cultures and Diverse Identities – Vacancy number 014882
- Role of Air-borne Inoculum in Disease Epidemics – Vacancy number 014879
- SDN Network Architecture and Protocol Design for 5G – Vacancy number 014880
- Lab-on-a-Chip Biodetection Technologies – Vacancy number 014875

The University offers a range of benefits including a guaranteed pension, professional development, family friendly policies and discounted memberships at the Hertfordshire Sports Village.

Head of Department – Education, Multi-Professional Practice and Early Childhood

(Ref NU2817)

Head of Department – Initial Teacher Education

(Ref NU2917)

£57,674 - £59,401 per annum + benefits

Newman University is proud to be distinctive by name and by nature. The University provides a values-driven education where class sizes are relatively small and relationships between staff and students are strong. The institution offers excellent general student support services. This is positively reflected in scores in the National Student Survey.

From September 2017, a new academic leadership structure will be implemented. This includes a change in nomenclature from the School of Education to Faculty of Education and the merging of 4 academic groups as 2 departments. As such, the Early Childhood Education and Care academic group and the Education and Multi-Professional Practice academic group will become the Education, Multi-Professional Practice and Early Childhood Department; and the Primary Initial Teacher Education academic group and Secondary Initial Teacher Education academic group will become the Initial Teacher Education Department.

Applications are therefore invited for two new Head of Department roles, to join the Faculty of Education at the University from September 2017. These are two of five new Head of Department posts which represent a major strategic investment by the University to continue its ambitious improvements in academic performance and enhanced formative education for our students.

Each Head of Department will lead and manage their Department so that the staff within it realise their potential and deliver excellence across the full range of academic activities, within the context of the strategic development and operations of the Faculty and University.

Applicants will possess a relevant Ph.D. or equivalent, and a recognised teaching qualification or professional recognition (FHEA) or willingness to attain this within 12 months of appointment. Professional recognition at senior level (SFHEA) is desirable. Specialist subject expertise within one or more disciplines relevant to the department and a strong teaching record in Higher Education is also essential, together with a high level knowledge, understanding and experience of strategically developing and enhancing learning, teaching and assessment in Higher Education within a context of internal and external Quality Assurance and Enhancement frameworks.

Informal enquiries about these opportunities are very welcome. Please contact Dr Lorraine Thomas, Acting Dean of Education, at L.Thomas@staff.newman.ac.uk, to discuss the role further.

An application form and further details about each role, the Department and the University are available from: www.newman.ac.uk/jobs (Leadership & Management Vacancies) or alternatively please e-mail: recruitment@newman.ac.uk or telephone 0121 476 1181, Ext 2456 or 2398.

Closing date for applications: midnight, Wednesday 12 July 2017.
Interviews will take place on Thursday 20th July 2017.

Please note that we reserve the right to remove this advert prior to the advertised date, dependent on the level of response received. You are therefore advised to apply at your earliest convenience.

Newman University offers a wide range of staff benefits which include 35 days paid annual leave plus bank holidays and closure days, Pension Scheme, Employee Assistance Programme, child care vouchers and an onsite crèche facility, health care and cycle to work schemes, sports centre facilities, chaplaincy and spiritual care, free tea and coffee, a staff room, free on-site parking, and a discounted travel scheme. For further information on these and other staff benefits please visit our website www.newman.ac.uk or contact the Human Resources Department.

Academic Registrar's Office

Academic Director – Employability and Skills

Competitive salary

Ref: 78787-067

Fixed term part-time position for three years

The University of Warwick seeks to appoint an Academic Director for Employability and Skills. We anticipate outstanding applicants with a strong vision, commitment, and track record in the leadership and development of employability at departmental and/or University level.

The successful candidate will provide leadership and ensure delivery of an employability strategy across the University, working in close partnership with academic departments, Student Careers & Skills, central service departments and the Students' Union. Responsibilities will include leading strategies for the embedding of employability and skills across departmental curricula, expansion of placement-learning and internship opportunities, and enhancing employer liaison activity.

The post holder will work as part of an emerging team of five Academic Directors and in conjunction with a new Education Executive led by the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Education). The objective of these exciting new appointments and development of the broader team is to ensure that the University of Warwick continues to remain at the very forefront of excellence in national and international education agendas.

The new Academic Director will be appointed for a period of 3 years in the first instance at 0.6 FTE with flexibility to increase to 0.8. The post holder will thus devote the rest of their time to personal academic work in research and/or teaching at the highest level. A successful candidate from outside the University will receive a permanent appointment in an appropriate department that matches their research and/or teaching expertise and will be expected to demonstrate the usual disciplinary excellence expected at the level of appointment.

Along with your application form you should submit a copy of your CV supported by a two-page statement outlining your suitability for the role. You should identify two individuals who may be approached for references.

Any queries about the role may be addressed to Professor Chris Hughes, Pro Vice-Chancellor (Education) C.W.Hughes@warwick.ac.uk

"Warwick is one of Britain's leading universities with an enviable reputation for educational opportunities, first rate research and its commitment to the local community."

The University Values Diversity

warwick.ac.uk/jobs

We at the TH Köln design and contribute to social innovation. This is how we meet today's challenges. We are interdisciplinary in thought and deed, part of what makes us sought-after cooperation partners and trendsetters. Our regional, national, and international activities generate sustainable networks and improve our expertise. Our openness, variety, and quality mean we offer an attractive work environment. These qualities make the TH Köln a research and teaching model for the future.

A new President of the TH Köln is sought for appointment at the earliest possible date.

The TH Köln is managed by an executive committee in which the central fields of activity such as teaching, research, knowledge transfer, personnel, accounting and infrastructure management, internationalization, gender diversity and inclusion are all represented. The president is therefore expected to have cross-sectional expertise in these fields.

Cooperative managerial structures require and permit a special form of interdependent functioning of the executive committee with those responsible for its academic departments, administration, and central scientific facilities.

Dealing with the varied tasks, interests, and skills of the stakeholders requires excellent communicative abilities, vision, and great aplomb to meet the heterogeneous expectations of the university – internally as well as externally – and to properly implement the concepts agreed with the university's governing bodies. The president assumes national and international representation duties. Developing strategy entails that the president has outstanding knowledge of the culture of a university and its governance structures, both of which the president decisively influences. The successful candidate has many years of experience as a professor and leadership experience in academia and research, preferably at a public university. A marked sensitivity to university stakeholders and extensive knowledge of the German university system are expected.

The TH Köln is interested in increasing the proportion of women in managerial functions to achieve gender equality and women are encouraged to apply. Candidates for the presidency must have a university degree and managerial experience suited to this function. The term of office is six years. The appointment is on a temporary civil service basis in the W3 salary group plus an allowance for exercising this function or on a temporary private law employment basis. Re-election is possible. Handicapped persons will be given priority if equally suitable.

Please send your application in German in written or digital form by 31 August 2017 to the university council of the TH Köln, Gustav-Heinemann-Ufer 54, 50968 Köln or to fkp@verwaltung.th-koeln.de. For inquiries please contact the chair of the selection committee, Professor René Cousin, rene.cousin@th-koeln.de.
