CHRIST'S COLLEGE Cambridge

Junior Research Fellowship Stipendiary

FIXED-TERM CONTRACT FOR FOUR YEARS

Christ's College, Cambridge invites applications for a four-year stipendiary Fellowship for a researcher in a specified area of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, tenable from not later than 1 October 2019 and non-renewable.

A Junior Research Fellowship is intended for a researcher early in their career and, in this case, is restricted to applicants in one or more of the following subject areas: Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Archaeology, Anthropology, English, History and Philosophy of Science, Modern and Medieval Languages, Music, Philosophy, and Theology.

The stipend for a Junior Research Fellow is currently £24,285 (with a PhD) and £19,850 (without a PhD) and the successful candidate will be afforded the full privileges of a Fellow of the College.

Applications must be submitted on-line via the Christ's College website at www.christs.cam.ac.uk/jrf by 12:00 noon on Thursday 25th October 2018. Reports from two referees must also be received by the same deadline for the application to be eligible. Interviews are expected to be on or around Thursday 10th January 2019 and further details of the award and of the competition are provided on the website.

A stipendiary Junior Research Fellowship for a successful applicant who does not have an automatic right to work in the United Kingdom (including anyone who is completing a PhD at an overseas institution) will be subject to the visa requirements of the United Kingdom. The College will give informal advice and assistance but ultimately it will be the responsibility of the candidate to obtain the necessary visa.

Faculty of Science

The Faculty of Science at the University of Zurich invites applications for an

Assistant Professor Tenure Track in Social and Cultural Geography

We seek innovative applicants with a strong and developing record in research to enrich our expertise in social and cultural geography. Applicants with a strong interest in global socio-spatial inequalities, marginalization and exclusion are particularly encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will combine a proven track record in critical social and cultural theories, experience in fieldwork and expertise in qualitative research methods.

The successful applicant is expected to lead an independent research group, to build up an innovative research program and to actively develop teaching profile in human geography at the bachelor and master levels. Moreover, the successful applicant is expected to acquire external research funding.

The University of Zurich provides generous research support, including dedicated funds for personnel, running expenses and competitive start-up packages. Zurich's scientific environment includes a rich spectrum of research activities across the social sciences and humanities and provides extensive opportunities for collaboration with research groups at the University of Zurich and other leading Swiss research institutions.

The employment conditions for this position follow the legal regulations of the University of Zurich (see www.prof.uzh.ch/de.html), which include part-time options. The University of Zurich is an equal opportunities employer and in particular strives to increase the percentage of women in leading positions. Therefore, qualified female researchers are particularly encouraged to apply. The city of Zurich combines a stimulating cultural scene in a modern European city with easy access to a beautiful natural landscape.

Academics with the appropriate qualifications are kindly invited to submit their applications including:

- a curriculum vitae
- lists of publications and research funding,
- detailed outlines of concepts for teaching and research
- plans to develop the discipline further (major problems and possible solutions)
- names and contact details of three referees

Please address your application to Prof. Roland Sigel, Dean of the Faculty of Science. Upload your application to <http://www.mnf.uzh.ch/SCG> by 17 September 2018.

For further information, please contact Prof. Christian Berndt at head.department@geo.uzh.ch.

Times Higher Education has helped to foster another important dimension of diversity at Harvard: international diversity. The exposure of Harvard's faculty positions on THEunijobs, since we embarked on our subscription package in October 2015, enhances our outreach efforts to a global community and showcases our institution as a destination of choice for academics around the world. Working with the THE team has also been a pleasure, and has enriched the conversation around international recruitment and retention.
