ABOUT LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

global.unl.edu/lincoln

Lincoln is a vibrant college town with something for everyone. Lincoln is home to more than 300,000 people and was ranked the “5th Safest American City” by Forbes. Add to that Lincoln’s exciting arts and entertainment scene, new business and technology firms, internship opportunities and hardworking people within a community of scenic parks and bike trails, you’ll discover why Lincoln inspires and supports success.

A newly-built arena close to campus hosts a variety of world-class performers and sporting events year-round. Past acts included P!nk, Jay Z, Sir Paul McCartney and Cirque du Soleil. The Railyard area around the arena boasts a number of restaurants, coffee houses and boutiques.

Due to its diverse employment opportunities and a low cost of living, Lincoln is one of the fastest growing metro areas in the Midwest. It’s also within easy traveling distance to larger cities such as Omaha, Kansas City, Chicago, Minneapolis and Denver.

LINCOLN

- Population: 300,000
- Capital of Nebraska
- One of the largest cities in Big Ten Conference
- Lincoln First in Quality of Life: A State University of New York study rated Lincoln first in quality of life among the 100 largest U.S. cities
- 125 parks (6,000 acres—most in U.S. per capita)
- 5 minutes from Lincoln Airport and 55 minutes from Omaha Airport
- Easy access to Interstate 80
- 130 miles of hiking and biking trails

The best part of coming to Nebraska in my opinion is getting to know different people from different countries. You teach others your culture and you learn from them as well.

Housing & Meal Plan:	$5,575 per semester
Books and Supplies:	$506 per semester
Miscellaneous:	$3,051 per semester
Semester Total:	$14,834 estimated cost

This is an estimation based on 2017-18 rates. Costs are based on a single undergraduate student enrolled in the Intensive English Program for one semester living in an Abel/Sandoz residence hall in a double room with the 7-day unlimited meal plan.

CREDIT ENGLISH FOR ACADEMIC PURPOSES

global.unl.edu/english

The CEAP program is available for conditionally admitted students who have an advanced level of English proficiency yet below the minimum requirement for full admission.

- Three advanced level English courses with one additional class in your area of study for a total of 13 hours of university credit
- TOEFL = 61 total with writing subscore of 17
- IELTS = 5.0 total with writing subscore of 4.5

CEAP students have access to individual success coaching and advising from the CEAP Academic Adviser/Success Coach throughout the semester. In addition, the adviser helps connect students to numerous academic and social support resources on campus.

THE ACADEMIC SUCCESS PROGRAM ADVISER OFFERS:

- Individualized Academic Success Plan based on your individual needs and interests;
- Regular one-on-one coaching sessions to keep you on track for academic success;
- Support with different aspects of student life: academic major exploration, student activities, cultural adjustment, and personal development;
- Workshops such as CEAP Orientation and Advising Day

Conditional Admission: Students who have met academic requirements but who have yet to meet English proficiency requirements.
Full Admission: Students who have met both academic and English proficiency requirements.

Go Far

Lijing chose NEBRASKA because of its high ranking and affordable cost.

A native of China, Lijing Zhang was accepted into several U.S. universities. She chose NEBRASKA because of its high ranking and affordable cost.

She didn't visit campus before enrolling but as soon as she arrived at UNL she knew she had made the best choice.

"My first week was smooth," she said. "I quickly connected with the international community."

Through her involvement in the Chinese Student & Scholar Association, Lijing shares her culture by performing traditional Chinese dances at various campus events.

She also spends a lot of time practicing English, one of the reasons she wanted to study in the United States: "people here are nice and friendly," she said. At NEBRASKA, Lijing has met friends from countries as diverse as Germany, Czech Republic, Japan and Oman. She's also developed a strong friendship with three American students who share her on-campus apartment suite with her.

Lijing enjoys studying at the library or hanging out at the café and restaurants in the campus union. Another favorite spot of hers is the coffee house near campus.

During her junior year, Lijing continued her global education through NEBRASKA's study abroad program at the University of Heidelberg in Germany. As a double major in Global Studies and German, this experience provided greater opportunities to network with people all over the world. Lijing's experiences at NEBRASKA will give her a competitive edge in finding a job after graduation.

Heitor Castro ■ Generation Google Scholar ■ Microsoft Software Engineer ■ NEBRASKA Alum

A Tradition of Excellence at NEBRASKA

3 Nobel Prize-Winning Alumni ■ 12 Pulitzer Prize-Winning Alumni ■ 22 Rhodes Scholars
30 Goldwater Scholars ■ 16 Truman Scholars ■ 97 Fulbright Scholars

During his sophomore year, Brazil native Heitor Castro, a student in NEBRASKA's Jeffrey S. Raikes School of Computer Science and Management, was one of just 36 students selected to be a Generation Google Scholar. As part of the honor, he received a $10,000 scholarship and traveled to Google's campus in California for a week-long retreat.

While he was at Google, Heitor helped develop a web platform and won an award for the user interface development he oversaw.

For Heitor, the experience proved that his skills could keep pace with the graduate students he competed against at Google.

"The computer science program [at NEBRASKA] is challenging, but the high level of excellence expected gave me the courage to apply and tackle this type of application."

Heitor first learned about NEBRASKA when he visited his brother who was teaching a class on campus.

"I had a great impression of the university when I visited...I was looking for a place that values technology, and having several friends and relatives who graduated from the engineering college, I knew NEBRASKA fulfilled this requirement," he said.

"Also, there is so much going on in the university and in Lincoln that every person can find something fulfilling and fun to do here." Especially appealing to him is the access to innovation and networking opportunities, as well as the start-up community close to campus.

Heitor graduated last year and is planning to work as a software Engineer at Microsoft. Looking back on his experience, he said, "The best thing about being a Husker is the excitement about innovation."

He encourages other international students to find out what really interests them and then reach out to people with those same interests. This helps students find new opportunities in research, internships, projects and careers.

For all matters, both personal and professional—and especially as an international student—Heitor follows a quote that has helped guide him in his experiences at NEBRASKA: "Find your comfort zone. Then leave it."

Start in Lincoln

GO ANYWHERE

When we say, “If you start in Lincoln, you can go anywhere,” we mean it. Between study abroad and research expeditions, NEBRASKA students and faculty have studied on all seven continents (yes, including Antarctica).

And if you’re up for the adventure, you can take a semester to study abroad and earn college credit. Studying abroad helps you grow personally and professionally while you develop new perspectives on real-world issues.

You can see all of NEBRASKA’s current study abroad opportunities at educationabroad.unl.edu

CREATE NEW KNOWLEDGE

Another way to prepare for your career is by participating in UCARE (Undergraduate Creative Activities and Research Experiences). UCARE gives you the chance to work with a faculty advisor to conduct research on a topic you propose.

But this isn’t boring research. This is about creating new knowledge through hands-on work. Plus you’ll gain a competitive edge when you start your career or apply to graduate school.

We know you have good ideas. Ideas that could make a difference in the world. So why not test them out?

YOUR HOME AWAY FROM HOME

Living away from home is a common source of uncertainty for college students all over the world. To provide the best experience for students, NEBRASKA offers a variety of housing options, meal plans and amenities to provide safe, comfortable living spaces and study areas.

NEBRASKA is home to 17 residence halls. Whether you choose a traditional hall or suite-style housing, all housing has air conditioning, laundry facilities and high-speed internet access.

When choosing housing, international students who do not expect to travel home during the school year may want to consider choosing one of the residence halls that stay open during holiday and semester breaks.
