The University of Languages and International Studies – Vietnam National University, Hanoi (abbreviated as ULIS – VNU) highly appreciates the efforts of its experts, scholars and faculty in research on linguistics, language education and international studies. This host of talented people has brought out many groundbreaking findings and applications which help bettering the quality of teaching and learning foreign languages in Vietnam. In order to encourage and facilitate research activities among its lecturers and students, ULIS has provided them with substantial financial supports, which are expected to help advance ULIS research activities to a higher level.

Each year, ULIS – VNU organizes and co-organizes numerous international conferences, some of which are highly popular and prestigious in the region.

Highlights:

- In the 2018-2019 academic year, 264 papers by ULIS authors were published in prestigious national and international journals.
- VNU Journal of Foreign Studies (ULIS-owned blind peer-reviewed journal in print and also available at <https://js.vnu.edu.vn/FS>) publishes 6 issues per year, including 4 written in English, with papers on linguistics, literature, culture, language education, international studies, and related social sciences & humanities from researchers along the country as well as around the globe.
- From 2015 to 2019, 28 international conferences were organized and/or co-organized by ULIS.
- On average, nearly 500 students participate in conducting research each year.
